

Long fingers dyed in snow
In deep red and freezing cold
Like a flower that just bloomed
You fall, shatter, not like you should
In a warmth of your presence
I get lost, overwhelmed, it's like a dance
So to be with you, I guess
I'll do what I can and what it takes

